NAACP Plans A 'March A Week' Protest Of Bias

Another Walk For June 22

Memphis Branch NAACP, not resting with their picketing of the downtown stores which hold to segregated lunch counters, evidently plan a "march a week" onslaught on the downtown area to protest these institutions.

Last Saturday the group staged the second of such marches and plan a similar one for Thursday, June 22, 11 a.m. beginning at Atlanta Life Insurance company.

The march last Saturday was composed of walkers in their sub-teens and teens, although several adults were in evidence. In the main, however, the walkers were children.

The number of walkers seemed to have increased over that of the week before. As usual, police escorts lined the path of the Negroes as they traversed the same ground over which they had tread the week before.

Sit-in activity took part in most of the downtown department and drug stores where segregated seating or no seating at all for Negroes, is held to at the lunch counters. Stores that closed their lunch counters were Walgreen at Main and Madison, Lowenstein's basement grill and Goldsmith's fifth floor restaurant.

Scene of arrests last week, the Ohman house in Bry's, was by-passed this week. Mrs. Maxine Smith, executive secretary of the branch NAACP said they skipped Bry's because of the impending trial set for June 28. Bry's is the only store that has signed complaints against the sit-inners.

OWEN SUMMER CLASSES:

Owen college Dean-Registrar Thomas I. Willard announces that the largest class to date is enrolled in the 1961 Summer Session at the College.

The six week session began June 12 and will end July 21. Most of the students enrolled in the session are regular Owen students earning additional credits or removing deficiencies. Class periods are scheduled between 7:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Special classes in swimming are being held.

For The Record

JUDGE MARION BOYD Miss. judge when Evers criticized the finding of one of the court's cases. TWO NEGROES were accepted into the University of Tennessee Martin, Tenn., branch, marking the first school desegregation in that area of West Tennessee, outside of Memphis. FRANK MITCHELL of 56 East McLemore, his face covered with bandages, said he acted in self defense only in his tussle with two Memphis policemen. The police said the 21-year-old took a blackjack away from one of the officers and hit one of them with it. The officers said they had to use force to restrain Mitchell, who had beaten her. Judge Boushe fined Mitchell for disorderly conduct and contempt by a Hattiesburg, Miss. assault and battery.

Citizens Shout For A 'Clean Up'; Petition Liquor License Board

A citizens group is circulating a petition requesting the Alcohol Licensing Board here in Memphis to "clean up the rules and regulations," governing places where alcoholic beverages are sold.

The following 29 items on the petition is being "recommended" regarding the sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages. The petition states "we the undersigned registered voters are interested in the enforcement of these rules and regulations:

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR THE ALCOHOL LICENSING BOARD

1. Hearings for issuance of liquor and beer permits to be held only at Wednesday meeting of Alcohol Licensing Board.
2. Each violation be cited for hearing at the Wednesday meeting of the Alcohol Licensing Board—and not wait for the third offense.
3. Proper lighting per square foot in places where beer (alcoholic beverages) is sold.
4. All obstructions be removed from windows so a clear view is possible from the street in all beer establishments.
5. All chartered clubs post a list of members of good standing at least every 90 days with the Commissioner of Finance and Taxation.

6. Issuance of permanent identification cards for patrons of establishments where alcoholic beverages are sold. Failure of the establishment to require proper identification should result in revocation of his license.
7. No person under 21 years of age to be permitted to be employed or patronize any establishment where either both beer or liquor are sold.
8. All character and moral references be filed with the Commissioner of Finance and Taxation following thorough investigation and verification by the Vice Squad or Federal Bureau of Investigation, as the case may be.
9. The liquor interest not be afforded a representative on the "official" Alcohol Licensing Board.
10. Thirty days for protesting location of either liquor or beer establishment after the advertisement appears in the paper.
11. Advertising in all instances and no thirty day probation.
12. All the members of the Alcohol Licensing Board thoroughly familiarize themselves with the laws and regulations pertaining to all phases of the distribution and consumption of alcoholic beverages.
13. Pay for all members of the Alcohol Licensing Board—at least $100 per month for the Chairman and $75 for other members.
14. The Alcohol Licensing Board be increased from five to - seven. As of today, we recommend Mr. Gerald Overton of 3740 Marion ave., and Mr. J. Harold Williams of 1588 Dorsett st. . . to better represent the citizens.

15. The number of establishments licensed to retail beer (on premises and off premises) be limited to 800. This figure is based on a comparable limit in other cities and one which could afford a more effective police action.
16. Each liquor retail store has his identification (name and location) on all liquor sold.
17. All teenagers picked up under the influence of alcohol be confined to juvenile court until they reveal the name of the dealer or other person who sell to or furnish to them alcohol beverages.
18. A drunkometer test be made law in all arrests and moving traffic violations.
19. Stores licensed to sell alcoholic beverages must be operated by the owner and only one license be issued per family. Any relatives.
20. No living quarters or side (blue) rooms be allowed where alcoholic beverages are sold.
21. No gambling devices, pin ball machines, music machines or similar devices be permitted to operate on any premises on which alcoholic (beer) beverages are sold.
22. No liquor store should be located within 2,000 feet of churches, schools, hospitals or

George W. Lee Baptist Brotherhood Keynote

The Memphis Baptist Brotherhood has made plans to raise $1,000 for Owen college during "Baptist Brotherhood Day" which has been scheduled for 3:45 p.m. Sunday, June 25 at Mt. Nebo Baptist church, 555 Vance ave.

Keynote address at the fund-raising mass meeting is expected to be George W. Lee, manager of the local office of Atlanta Life Insurance company, and local Republican leader. Noted as an orator, Lee's topic is "The High Cost of Being Scared."

JFK Approves Sending Food To Fayette Ct.

Surplus food for distress Negro farmers in Fayette and Haywood Counties was authorized by President John F. Kennedy last week.

Negroes who had registered to vote in the counties became victims of economic pressure by white landowners and merchants.

The President's authorization to send the food came in a letter to Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman.

The Chief Executive's action, in large part, grows out of a series of NAACP moves dating back to March 1960, when John Brooks, director of voter registration, investigated economic reprisals growing out of efforts of Negroes in Haywood and Fayette Counties to register and vote. The NAACP submitted affidavits of voting denials to the Justice Department under the Civil Rights Act of 1957 which resulted in a consent decree being issued April 25, 1960.

Brooks' personal investigation of events in Fayette County confirmed rumors of the economic squeeze against Negro leaders and others who dared to register and vote. Affidavits were submitted in May, 1960, to the Justice Department by the Washington Bureau detailing the economic reprisals, including refusal of credit, denial of bank loans and refusal of merchants to sell gasoline, clothing and other necessary items, as well as the cancellation of liability insurance on automobiles, tractors and homes.

NOW—CLOTHING

President of the Memphis NAACP, Jesse Turner, said "we are glad the farmers in the two counties will receive surplus food. It will take a big burden off of our shoulders. Now we can concentrate on soliciting clothing."

Turner is chairman of the National Committee on Aid to Fayette and Haywood Counties, who on behalf of this group, wired President Kennedy suggesting that the two counties be declared "emergency distressed areas."

NAACP branches throughout the country, at the call of the National office last August, sent substantial financial assistance, food and clothing to help out in the emergency. Bi-monthly, food packages were delivered under the management of the NAACP Memphis branch.

In order to take affirmative steps to end the pressures in the counties, the Association's Executive Secretary, Roy Wilkins, called together in New York City on Jan. 11 representatives of the American Friends Service Committee, "Young Southwesterners" National Congress of Racial Equality and the National Committee for Rural Schools. The organizations agreed to work together to coordinate relief activities and to work out a long-range solution to alleviate the emergency.

J. Francis Pohlhaus, counsel for the Washington Bureau, stated in a letter March 17 to the Administration, "there is ample legal basis for supplying assistance" to the two counties.

John McFarren, president of the Original Fayette County Civic and Welfare League, who is a grocer there, is now able to purchase gasoline.

In May, the NAACP wired Gulf Oil, Standard Oil of New Jersey, American Oil and Texaco urging them to end their refusal to sell gasoline to Negro farmers in Haywood and Fayette Counties and pressed the national oil companies for action in behalf of Negro residents, which resulted in McFarren being able to purchase gas for his filling station.

New Bus Driver

First Negro Bus Driver Dedicated Man

Feels He Can Handle Job

The Metropolitan Transit Authority took everyone by surprise last week with the announcement that it had hired its first Negro bus driver in the person of James L. Smith 29, of 82 Angelus.

Smith, a dedicated man, had put in his application only two and a half months before. He said he was surprised that the bus company contacted him so quickly. Naturally, he's elated. Smith, a native Memphian thinks that his appointment as a driver, a here-to-fore unheard of happening in Memphis, is simply the forerunner to other such appointments for Negroes.

"All Negroes have to do is apply in considerable number," said Smith.

Smith said he did not know personally, if other Negroes had applied for similar positions.

Smith said he underwent extensive tests, physical and emotional, as well as mental before he finally got the nod. When the Defender talked with him last Saturday he admitted that he was "beat", having gone through extensive testing the day before.

Smith is a native Memphian. He was graduated from Booker T. Washington high school after attending several years at night. He is a Korean vet. He is married to the former Jimmie Ruth Sanders. They have two children.

Smith formerly worked for the National Bank of Commerce. The transit company now has 430 white bus drivers. The Company has indicated that it is possible that other Negro bus drivers will be hired in the future. Smith said he feels somewhat like a pace setter, a guinea pig and that he hoped that he could prove the bus company's faith in him by conducting himself with dignity.

"I WON'T TELL if you don't tell," said a prominent matron to NAACP leader when they met in Goldsmith's last week. The matron had gone into the store "to pick up a package," so she stated. However, she did not know that the NAACP worker had gone to the store to see how many Negro shoppers were inside, during a sit-in demonstration.

HE IS PROUD AND SO ARE WE of the fact that Jesse L. GERRI MAJOR, social news writer for Johnson's Publication, flew to Memphis last weekend to cover the marriage of Miss Patricia Walker to Harold Shaw. Miss Walker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Maceo Walker. The wedding ceremony was one of the biggest events of the season. Several other big weddings are scheduled for later this summer. The big-wedding-season tone was set by the Spight-Lindsey wedding of several weeks ago.

A FORMER MEMPHIAN said he was tricked into making a purchase at Goldsmith. He said he was not aware that downtown department stores were being picketed by the NAACP when he agreed to make a purchase of material for a woman. He said he was most embarrassed to be seen coming out of the store facing the pickets. Percy Milligan said he is here visiting during his vacation from Southern university in Baton Rouge, La., where he is an instructor.

OFFICIALS OF THE Inter-denominational Ministers Alliance of Memphis and Shelby County invited officials and board members of the Cotton Makers' Jubilee to a meeting last Monday to give them a chance to "clarify their views on the Cotton Makers' Jubilee."

A POLICE SQUAD CAR suffered a flat tire on Beale street during the time a group of youths were marching to main street to picket and sit-in last Saturday. It is not very often we see a squad car with a deflated tire.

DANIEL C. KEAN of Pittsburgh, Pa., stopped in Memphis last week on official business. He is a public relations man for Gulf Oil Corp. He is believed to be the first Negro hired by the company in such capacity. No doubt Gulf Oil Corp. took a cue from Sun Oil Co. in Philadelphia, which lost thousands of dollars recently before it bowed to a boycott by Negroes.

A YOUNG MAN AND HIS NEPHEW are learning the hard way that it pays to know how to cook. The woman of the house is on a month-long-or-more vacation. The man and his nephew are creating some strange-looking dishes. Someone should tell them that "cooking is an art" which is learned over a period of time, not during one short vacation.

A NURSE testified in Federal Court here last week, that city policemen chased a group of small children through a for-white-only city park, like little chickens. She was testifying at the Parks and Recreation Desegregation hearing. She said "those poor little kids were chased in that park like chickens," until most of the court's spectators became so amused they laughed.

INSURANCE AGENTS walking the picket lines and sitting-in several Saturdays ago, said since they were dealing in the "insurance business" they were "insuring themselves against the continued racial discrimination going unheeded down town." It is said that one can purchase insurance coverage for everything. We wonder if that coverage includes "being insured against racial discrimination." Hehl Insurance agents, answer this one.

FRANK MITCHELL, 21, of 56 E. McLemore ave., might have hit Patrolman Earl J. Clark, 29, first, but Clark and his partner, Patrolman D. R. Malone, really left their trade mark. But we ask, does this "self protection" include beating him after he has been subdued? ? ?

SPOTLIGHT OF THE WEEK Sam Fletcher, a native Memphian is rapidly climbing the ladder of success. Sam started his professional career in 1957 around the New York area. June, 1959 he made an appearance on the Dick Clark National Television show. He has also appeared on the Schaefer Circle show as the guest of Barbara McNair in New York City.

Sam made his first effort as a recording star on MGM records. He is currently under contract with RCA Victor. Sam has been appearing constantly in night clubs and theatres. He has appeared with Hazel Scott, Nipsey Russell, Olga James, one of the stars from the movie "Carmen Jones," and many others.

Some of his recordings are "Tall Hope" taken from "Wildcat," a Lucille Ball production; "Just Had To Tell Someone" and "Time Has a Way."

His latest release is "Hold Me" backed with "You Did It." Sam's next release will be out in three weeks. He is a Booker T. Washington high school graduate.

So hats off to a fine performer. Until next week, Lady Top and you too Ole Great One, if anything turns up, spank it!

Wealth Of Talent For Starlight Revue July 1

WDIA will bring a wealth of talent to Memphis at 8 p. m. Saturday, July 1, for its sixth annual Starlight Revue — all in the name of charity for needy youngsters.

Dynamic Lloyd Price will bring his 15-piece band to play for the Revue. Popular artists Dee Clark and Little Junior Parker are also on the bill, as is B. B. King, who got his start at WDIA. Carla Thomas, rising young Memphis songstress, daughter of WDIA Disc Jockey Rufus Thomas, will appear, with several big-selling records to her credit.

Longtime favorites Ivory Joe Hunter, Muddy Waters and Howlin' Wolf will also be around to make their special brands of music for the Starlight Revue, whose theme this year is "Down Home Reunion."

Ben Branch and his band, along with the Largos, standbys in the Memphis entertainment world, will round out the pop bill.

IN AUDITORIUM The show, formerly held outdoors, will be staged in the air-conditioned auditorium for the first time.

The opening portion of the Revue, as always, will be devoted to gospel music. Powerhouse names to be represented include the Caravans and the Soul Stirrers, both groups from Chicago; the Zionettes, from Hattisburg, Miss.; the Dixie Nightingales of Memphis, and the Spirit of Memphis, who have never missed a Starlight Revue. Expect Large Turnout For Camp Dedication Delegates from seven states are expected to attend the dedication services of Camp Dorothy Walls in Black Mountain, N. C., scheduled for the June 26 weekend. The camp site was purchased three years ago by the Western North Carolina Conference of the AME Zion church, administered by Rt. Rev. William J. Walls, senior bishop of the denomination. The camp is named in the honor of the bishop's wife.

Main speaker at the dedication service is expected to be Dr. Samuel Duncan, president of Livingston college in Salisbury, N. C., which is supported by the church. Hood Seminary is also located on the campus.

Dr. Duncan is widely known in North Carolina where he served as state supervisor of Negro education before assuming the presidency of the college after the retirement of Dr. W. J. Trent, Sr.

Dedication of the camp falls on the third day of the First Annual Ministers Institute and Youth Conference of the Western North Carolina Conference of the AME Zion church to be held at the camp.

Attending the ceremonies will be Bishop and Mrs. Walls, 10 other bishops of the church, 12 general officers, including Dr. James W. Eichelberger of Chicago, general secretary of the denomination's Christian education department; officers of the missionary department and the 92 active pastors and six presiding elders in the North Carolina Western conference, as well as many others. States represented will be Tennessee, Kentucky, North and South Carolina, Virginia, Alabama and New Jersey.

The 61-acre camp site is reported to have cost $75,000. It was once used as a rest sanitarium. It consists of a lake for swimming and boating; dormitories and other facilities.

The camping season will run from June 11 to Sept. 13. It will be open to boys and girls from seven to 18 years of age. Family camping can also be arranged.

For more information, the camp director, Rev. W. L. McDaniels of Box 172, rt. 1, Black Mountain, N. C., should be contacted. The camp is located at the base of Stepps and Allen mountains which is about 12 miles from Asheville, N. C., on the Cragmont road.

Lydia Circle of Cumming Street Baptist church has made plans to sponsor a Food-O-Rama in the church's dining room from 4-6 p.m., Sunday, June 25, announced the chairman of the circle, Mrs. Essie M. Tried and Mrs. Ann Brewster.

Featured speaker at the affair is expected to be Atty. Russell B. Sugarmon. Soloists will be Mrs. Helen Houston and Mrs. Julie Ford.

Chairmen of the program are Mrs. Jessie Braffett and Mrs. Gertrude Turner.

The church is located at 1222 Cummings st. The affair is open to the public.

ACLU Asks Changes In Education Bill

NEW YORK — (UPI) — The American Civil Liberties Union has asked the House of Representatives to divide federal school aid funds according to a state's public school attendance instead of total school-age population.

The Senate, in passing a $2.5 billion aid to education bill, voted to grant funds on the basis of total school-age population.

The ACLU said Sunday this formula would discriminate against school children, parents of private school children and taxpayers who have no school-age children.

On his return to the States in 1956, Lloyd picked up his show business career, and the rest of his life story can be summed up in two words: "Smash Hit!"

Lloyd is looking forward to the Starlight Revue in Memphis because he likes playing charity shows, especially for needy kids. He was once a poor boy himself.

With his very first record, "Lawdy Miss Clawdy," Lloyd Price was an established star.

Uncle Sam took two of Lloyd's years, which he served in Korea. In off duty hours he entertained his fellow soldiers with his great blues voice.

Lloyd reached for the trumpet because nobody else in the family was playing it at the time. But when one of his brothers married and vacated the piano stool, Lloyd put in his time pounding the ivories.

He was only 14 at the time. Within eight months he was in great demand for social affairs in his native Louisiana.

Singing still hadn't occurred to Lloyd at the time. Filling in for a sick brother, Lloyd sang in the church choir and soon became a regular member. It was this accidental turn of fate which set Lloyd seriously thinking about a career for himself as a singer.

INTERVIEWED — Frederick B. McCuiston, recently of Tennessee State university was interviewed by Ford Motor Company at their Dearborn, Mich. proving grounds, for a tentative position with the company. McCuiston would work in Engineering and Research department, if hired. The proving grounds, which consists of 4000 acres of land and utilizes some 500 engineers, is the largest test track belonging to the Ford Motor co.

New Tyler's Youth Day

New Tyler AME church, 568 Carpenter st., has planned to celebrate its annual "Young People's Day" Sunday, June 25.

Keynote speaker for the 11 a.m. service is expected to be Rev. Ulysses Harvey for St. Andrews AME church. And Rev. J. E. Brooks of Smothers Chapel CME church is expected to deliver the featured speech at the 3 p.m. program.

Miss Jacqueline Flowers is general chairman of the celebration. Rev. R. L. McRae is pastor of the church. The public is invited to attend.

The members of the National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa bid farewell to each other recently and went their separate ways toward improving themselves in their profession. The organization is composed of school teachers.

Mrs. Othella Shannon, principal of Georgia Avenue school is going to study on her master's degree at the University of Michigan. Miss Cornelia Sanders, principal of Douglass Elementary, is working on her master's at the University of Indiana.

Mrs. Mildred T. Carver, principal of Dunbar Elementary was granted a stipend to study at the summer institution on elementary mathematics at Rutgers University. New Brunswick, N. J. The grant was made by the National Science Foundation. The institute will be conducted July 2 - August 11.

Mrs. Maudie Thompson Seward, mathematics instructor at Lester high school, who toured South America last summer, is doing advanced study in the field of mathematics here through London university.

Miss Harry Mae Simons, principal of Magnolia school, president of the sorority, was chosen as the official delegate to represent the club at the annual Conclave held in Cleveland, Ohio, August 7-11 at the Pick-Carter hotel.

Her alternate is Mrs. Mildred P. Horne of the same school. Other members are free to attend. Mrs. Lucile H. Brewer, elementary supervisor, is a possible attendee.

Threaten To Picket Poet Langston Hughes' Show

BOSTON — (UPI)—Officials of the Boston Arts festival Monday went ahead with plans for an appearance by Negro Poet Langston Hughes despite threats to picket his performance.

Hughes' scheduled appearance was protested strongly by a right wing organization known as the "American Institute" which said the poet was "a communist sympathizer and a danger to the children of Boston."

James A. McElligott of North Weymouth, an officer of the organization, said that if Hughes appears Tuesday night as scheduled his organization will have 40 to 50 pickets at the Boston Public garden. He said Hughes' appearance was a misuse of public funds.

In 1952 Hughes was named with 28 other persons as a communist party member by Louis Budenz, a former Communist leader. He was invited here by Digory Venn, festival director, at the suggestion of Rev. Norman J. O'Connor, Boston's "Jazz Priest." Hughes will improvise in verse his concept of jazz lyrics.

CREATIVE AMERICAN
Father O'Connor shrugged off McElligott's charges. He said the poet was a "reputable man of letters and a very creative American."

The institute is headed by former FBI counterspy Herbert Philbrick. McElligott said he had information which showed Hughes admitted communist sympathies in 1953.

He charged that the poet once composed a poem for the eighth convention of the American Communist Party. The poem was entitled, McElligott said, "Put One More 'S' in the USA."

He also wrote another, entitled "Good-bye Christ," according to McElligott.

Yes Madame:

There is always the question — what to serve for dessert with barbecue? Jack Sprat has the answer — Use Jack Sprat pastry for tender tarts, tangy wedges of cheese, and juicy fruits. Put them all together with iced or hot mugs of coffee and you have a wonderful ending to your barbecue dinner as zestful as the outdoors.

With our pastry recipe use all of your favorite fruit fillings.

JACK SPRAT TART PASTRY
1 1/4 cups Jack Sprat flour
2 1/4 tablespoons cold water
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup shortening
Sift Jack Sprat flour and salt into a mixing bowl. With a pastry blender, cut in 2-3 of the shortening until as fine as meal. Cut in remaining shortening. Sprinkle water over mixture, mix with a fork until particles cling together. Pick up in hands; shape into a ball.

Roll out 1-8 inch thick on a floured board of pastry cloth. Cut 12 3/4 inch circles with a cookie cutter. Place circles on cookie, place a round tablespoon of fruit filling in center of each circle. Shape in squares or rounds. Bake in very hot oven 450 degrees F. 14 to 16 minutes.

Just right for barbecue.

Bye for now,
Jane Porter.

misconceptions many persons have about drownings.

Reason the Chicago-based safety organization, created in 1913 to prevent accidents of all kinds, is trying to dispel such misconceptions:

"So no one will be lulled by false facts into thinking—
—over the Fourth of July holiday or any time in the year—that because he's in the prime of life, or just walking near water, he is in no danger of drowning," explained Ralph Kuhl, NSC director of public safety.

Kuhl said many grown persons—nearly 1,500 25-44 years of age alone—drown each year. Four out of five victims

If, despite all your precautions over the holiday, a water emergency should arise, what does Kuhl recommend you do?

—Throw a person struggling in the water anything that will float—a board, branch, large thermos jug.

—Or, hold something out to him—an oar, branch, end of a piece of rope, even a sweat shirt.

Best way to help make sure such emergencies don't occur?

"By learning to swim," Kuhl believes. "Even if you're middle-age, you're certainly not past danger from drowning—and neither is it too late for you to learn to swim," he said.

A SUMMER STOCK company was doing "Springtime for Henry" one week, with "Arsenic and Old Lace," featuring Boris Karloff, scheduled for the week following.

In the middle of Act Two of "Springtime for Henry," a bat suddenly whooshed out of the eaves and brushed the face of the male lead of "Springtime for Henry." Very calmly that resourceful gentleman waved the bat away and said very clearly, "No, no, you fool! NEXT week. NEXT week."

The bat flew away and the relieved audience applauded madly.

The last remaining "bachelor girl" in a big office appeared radiantly one morning and began to pass out cigars to all and sundry. "What's the big idea?" chorused her cohorts. Proudly she displayed a diamond ring and exulted, "It's a boy--six feet tall and weighs 190 pounds."

Carl Sandburg defines slang as "language that takes off its coat, spits on its hands, and goes to work."

PATRICIA WALKER, HAROLD SHAW MARRIED IN BRILLIANT NUPTIALS

MOTHER AND BRIDE... A touching scene takes place as Miss Walker pins her mother's orchid corsage on her shoulder, before leaving home for the church.

BRILLIANT NUPTIALS... The brilliant wedding of Miss Lily Patricia Walker and Harold Roulhac Shaw of Chicago, Ill. was a major social event of Saturday, June 17, when at 6:30 p.m. at the Mississippi Boulevard Christian church, Memphis, hundreds of fashionably dressed socialites witnessed the ceremony which was marked with elegant beauty and simplicity. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Blair T. Hunt, pastor of the church founded by the bride's grandfather, the late Dr. J. E. Walker, founder of Universal Life Insurance Company, of which the bride's father, A. Maceo Walker, is president. Mr. Shaw is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Shaw of Chicago, Ill. The full bridal party is seen during the ceremony. Serving the groom as best man was his brother, Lawrence Shaw of Chicago; and groomsmen James Biggs and Lawyer Burkes — also of Chicago. Hollis Price, Herman A. Gilliam, Walter Gibson, James Haynes of Louisville, Ky. Assisting as junior ushers were the bride's young brother, Antonio Maceo Walker, jr. who escorted his mother to her seat just before the wedding began, and William O. Speight III. The stellar wedding drew more than 60 wedding guests from distant points throughout the country, and touched off more than nine brilliant pre-wedding parties. A fabulous reception was given by the bride's parents, at their home at 1255 South Parkway East, where blazing Hawaiian torches lighted up the approaches to the home and back lawns, where a fountain pool with floating water lilies, gardenias and daffodils carried out more of the yellow and white theme of the wedding, with scenes of red anthurium.

"TIL DEATH DO US PART" ... the sacred marriage vows of Miss Walker and Mr. Shaw are repeated for the Rev. Blair T. Hunt, pastor of Mississippi Boulevard Christian Church, founded by the bride's late grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Walker.

Miss Walker is the son of Atty. and Mrs. A. W. Willis, jr., and the beautiful little flower girl is the bride's young sister, the Little Miss Harriette Lucille ("Candy") Walker.

FATHER AND BRIDE... couple. Miss Walker is seen with her father, who gave her in marriage at one of Memphis most fashionable weddings.

PORTRAIT OF A BRIDE... Miss Lily Patricia Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Maceo Walker and granddaughter of the late Dr.

and Mrs. J. E. Walker, and Dr. G. W. Stanley Ish, sr., of Little Rock, Ark. and the late Mrs. Lily Johnson Ish, is a vision of loveliness as she made this formal portrait beneath the oil portrait of her and her brother, in the drawing room of the Walker home at 1255 South Parkway East.

RINGBEARER AND FLOWER GIRL... exhibiting assured composure. Miss Walker's charming ringbearer down the aisle. Little Master just before their entrance and flower girl duo are seen Michael Willis is the son of Atty. and Mrs. A. W. Willis, jr., and the beautiful little flower girl is the bride's young sister, the Little Miss Harriette Lucille ("Candy") Walker.

TOASTED BY PARENTS... The happy bridal pair back in the champagne toast made by their parents. Seen at the left are the groom's father and mother, Mr. Lawrence

Shaw, sr. and Mrs. Shaw of Chicago, Ill.; and at the right of the couple are the bride's parents, Mrs. Walker and Mr. Walker.

BRIDE AND MAIDS... A radiant bride, Mrs. Shaw, is seen with her feminine attendants, whose softly draped yellow silk organza dresses and matching accessories were

Chamber Backs Ill. Vote Changes

The Illinois Chamber of Commerce has endorsed two legislative measures which would reduce residence requirements for voting in the state.

One of the measures, introduced in the Senate, would amend the state constitution to slice six months off the residence requirement which now stands at one year.

The second proposal, a House bill, would lower the residence rule for voting in a presidential election to thirty days.

West Berlin Open To Red Refugees

BERLIN — (UPI) — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt said Monday his city must remain a "harbor of refuge" for East Germans who flee communism.

He rejected communist demands that the mass flight of refugees to the west be halted by making West Berlin a so-called free, demilitarized city. The continued flow of East Germans to the west underlined Brandt's statement.

Says U. S. Headed For Socialism

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — (UPI) — Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch society, said the United States is being "stamped" into socialism by the threat of war by Soviet Russia.

Welch told a capacity audience in a Milwaukee hotel that the Soviets posed a "phony" threat and the United States was being "stamped" into taking more and more measures to convert us into a socialist state.

Integrationists Close Tenn. Stores

MEMPHIS — (UPI) — About 150 men, women and children participated in an anti-segregation "March on Main Street" demonstration here Saturday, causing a number of department and drug store restaurants to close temporarily.

Police reported no incidents. The marchers, organized by the Memphis chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, carried placards and handed out pamphlets protesting segregating eating facilities.

New Diabetes Drug Held 'Harmless'

SAN FRANCISCO — (UPI) — Two physicians reported Saturday that chlorpropamide, a drug taken by mouth, is highly useful in controlling mild diabetes when dosage is held to safe limits.

Last year doubt was thrown on the safety of this oral substitute for insulin injections when reports of a high incidence of harmful side effects were published.

Now Dr. Geoffrey Walker and Dr. Laurence W. Kinsell report that the side effects were due to excessive dosage. They said chlorpropamide is a highly useful drug.

Says Auto Seat Belts Necessary

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges agreed Sunday with a suggestion that seat belts should be required as standard equipment on new automobiles.

Hodges, who drives a sports car equipped with seat belts, said "I absolutely would" recommend them for everyone. When asked if they should be required, he replied: "Yes, I do."

Expectant Mother Slays Mate

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — (UPI) — A young mother, expecting her third child, has fatally stabbed her husband during an argument over custody of their children.

Mrs. Ladora McCleary, 21, was charged with first degree murder in the butcher knife slaying of her husband, William, 26. She was scheduled for arraignment Monday. The couple had been separated since February.

Says U. S. Lags In Latin America

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Senate Democratic Whip Hubert H. Humphrey, charging that the United States isn't even "in the race" against communism in Latin America, has demanded "some answers" or he won't vote for new foreign aid proposals.

At a recent closed door session of the Senate Foreign relations committee, Humphrey told the State Department's top Latin American official that he won't vote for the program "until I get some answers."

Offers Wealth For Korea Rebuilding

SEOUL, Korea — (UPI) — Lee Byung Chul, said to be the wealthiest business tycoon in South Korea, has offered to give up his whole fortune to revolutionary authorities if necessary for Korean reconstruction, it was announced Monday.

The Supreme Council for National Reconstruction (the Junta) published the text of a memorandum sent by Lee, who is now in Japan, to Maj. Gen. Joo Il, chairman of the Illegal Profiteering Disposal committee.

Lee, accused of being one of the leading illegal profiteers, was said to be undergoing medical treatment in a Tokyo hospital.

Plan To Teach Cuba Illiterates

MIAMI — (UPI) — Fidel Castro said Monday that more than 100,000 Cubans will be "mobilized" to teach a million Cuban illiterates to read and write before the end of the year.

His address to 3,800 "alphabetized" former illiterates was monitored here from a Cuban-broadcast of the government radio network.

Except for a crack or two at imperialism, Castro limited himself to the illiteracy topic for all of his two hour and twenty minute speech.

Says GOP Bolsters JFK's Program

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Democrats have a majority of nearly 2 to 1 in the Senate, but it has taken Republican votes to push through President Kennedy's key bills this year.

Without the support of a handful of Republicans, vital parts of Kennedy's liberal domestic program would have failed or at least been crippled in the Senate.

High Court Upholds RR Worker

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled Monday that the dues of a railroad worker required to join a union under a union-shop agreement may not be used for political activities he opposes.

Justice William J. Brennan, Jr. wrote the opinion for a five-man majority. The four other Justices expressed separate views.

Propose Kennedy, Mr. K. TV Talks

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Sen. Alexander Wiley, (R-Wis.), has proposed worldwide television and radio chats in which President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev would explain their positions.

Wiley said in a Chicago radio broadcast Sunday night that such talks "could result in better understanding of the respective approaches of east and west on the peace-threatening problems."

RECEIVING LINE... Among the hundreds of wedding home following the ceremony were Commissioner and Mrs. William Farris. Mrs. Farris is seen extending best wishes to the lovely bride.

Patricia Walker, Harold Shaw Married In Brilliant Nuptials

By MARJORIE L. ULEN

In an impressive summer formal ceremony marked with tradition, warm sentiment and Miss Walker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Maceo Walker of 1255 South Parkway East, and the granddaughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Walker of Memphis, Dr. G. W. Stanley Ish, sr., and Little Rock and the late Mrs. Lily Johnson Ish.

Mr. Shaw is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Shaw, sr., of Memphis and Chicago, Ill.

The brilliant event drew socialites from distant cities in the East, Middle West, Deep South and the West Coast.

A program of nuptial music was played by Mrs. Meryl Glover at the organ and Harold Brooks as soloist.

Fashionable wedding guests made early arrivals, including the bride's aunt, Mrs. Julian W. Kelso; Mrs. G. W. Stanley Ish, sr. of Little Rock; the beautiful wife of the bride's grandfather, Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Stanley Ish, jr. and their daughter Etta Sue, and Mrs. s. Claude Barnett of Chicago, Ill.; Rev. and Mrs. P. M. Brooks, Miss Ida Mae Walker, Miss Jewel Gentry and her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Armstrong.

Mrs. John Outlaw and Miss Gerri Major of New York City, who covered the glittering event for Ebony and Jet Magazines; Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Ish of Rockford, Ill., the bride's aunt and uncle, and their three lovely daughters, Mary, Lynn and Beverly; Mrs. L. E. Brown, Mrs. J. B. Martin of Chicago, Ill.; Miss Emma Crittenden, Mrs. Marie L. Adams; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Howell and daughter, Miss Lynn Marie Howell; Dr. and Mrs. Hollis Price, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Blackmon, Mrs. O. B. Braithwaite, Mr. s.

Harry Cash and Mrs. A. Prestwood of Dallas, Texas.

Mrs. Kelso was a study of charm in a gorgeous dress of light blue embroidered lace sequins and a matching blue hat. Mrs. Ish, sr., utterly devastating in a magnificent short cocktail dress of hot pink chiffon and pale pink lace, and wearing a beautiful hat of dark green leaves and hot pink tiny roses.

Followed by the enchanting loveliness of beautiful bridesmaids wearing yellow silk organza dresses, their bell-shaped skirts draped across the front ending in extending flat satin bows at the waists at the backs, the first evidence was seen of the exotic Hawaiian note which was used at the fabulous reception which was to follow immediately after the ceremony.

Their matching satin pumps and headpieces of flat organza over taffeta bows with circular illusion veils were perfect foils for the striking bouquets of red anthuriums with long yellow stamens — flown from Hawaii for the wedding. The flamboyantly colored flowers were trellised with red satin ribbons.

The feminine attendants were Miss Myrna Randolph of Baltimore, Md.; Miss Annette Foster, the bride's cousin of Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. Alfred Callaway the former Miss Carole Ann Latting, the bride's cousin of Carbondale, Ill.; Miss Norma Walton of Cleveland, Ohio, Miss Mose Yvonne Brooks, Bio-Chemistry.

It was a magnificent wedding, and the community share the joy of the Walker family over the wedding of their charming daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaw will live in Chicago, where Mr. Shaw will continue graduate study in Bio-Chemistry.

Miss Agretta Whittaker and Miss Lulah McEwen.

Coming down the aisle as flower girl, looking like a veritable Dresden doll, in a pale yellow organza tucked bouffant dress, a yellow-bowed headpiece with attached circular veil, wearing pale yellow shoes, little Harriette Lucille (Candy) Walker, the bride's little sister, gaily strewn the bride's path with yellow petals.

Little Michael Willis, son of Atty. and Mrs. A. W. Willis, was the handsome little ring-bearer.

Following the sacred wedding ceremony which the young couple pledged their troth, soloist Harold Brooks sang a short refrain of I'd a Belle Firestone's immortal composition, "If I Could Tell-You," as Rev. Hunt held his hands over the heads of the kneeling couple.

Hundred of guests were awed as they approached the stately Walker home on South Parkway, to find reserved parking for the occasion two blocks away. . . . and by the blazing stately Hawaiian torches which lit up the lawn and driveway leading to the formal lawn at the back of the home.

Many homemakers like to make fancy molded salads, which isn't difficult but it does require a good deal of patience. One technique in making the fancy congealed salad is to first congeal a thin layer of gelatin over the entire surface of the mold. To do this, pour some of the gelatin mixture in the mold, hold it in a pan of ice water, tipping the mold from side to side to coat the entire surface in a uniform layer. This prevents the solid food from coming in contact with the mold, and adds a great deal of sparkling beauty.

It is good to remember that in the summer a gelatin mold may require about one teaspoon more gelatin for each pint of liquid than in the winter to hold its shape at the table until the last morsel is consumed.

Here is one of our favorite molded salad recipes. The top layer is a sparkling tomato aspic studded with shrimp and olives. The other layer combines cottage cheese and hard cooked eggs — as pretty, fancy and savory as you please.

SHRIMP AND CHEESE SALAD KING

1 1-2 C. tomato juice
3 T. chopped onions
1 T. brown sugar
1 t. salt
1 bay leaf
2 whole cloves
2 T. lemon juice
3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
2 T. water
1/4 lb. shrimp
1-4 C. sliced stuffed olives
2 C. milk
1 C. cottage cheese

A GUIDE TO GOOD EATING

By GRACE WILLIAMS

There's really very little difference in our summertime nutritional needs and the food we need in order to be well-fed during the winter months. We may need a few less calories in the summer-time, but other than that, our bodies must have the same amount of minerals, vitamins and proteins to maintain maximum health.

So summer meals should only change in form to give the feeling of coolness or lightness. For example, in the winter we like hot chocolate; in the summer it's a chocolate milk shake.

Macaroni and cheese is a popular dish in the winter; in the summer macaroni is often combined with cheese to form a salad.

The molded salad is another way to combine foods to achieve a light, refreshing effect in warm weather meals. For the homemaker who likes to prepare her meal ahead of time, it is a real time saver. It's convenience and attractive appearance make it a popular buffet dish for both quick family meals and party entertaining.

Many homemakers like to make fancy molded salads, which isn't difficult but it does require a good deal of patience. One technique in making the fancy congealed salad is to first congeal a thin layer of gelatin over the entire surface of the mold. To do this, pour some of the gelatin mixture in the mold, hold it in a pan of ice water, tipping the mold from side to side to coat the entire surface in a uniform layer. This prevents the solid food from coming in contact with the mold, and adds a great deal of sparkling beauty.

It is good to remember that in the summer a gelatin mold may require about one teaspoon more gelatin for each pint of liquid than in the winter to hold its shape at the table until the last morsel is consumed.

Here is one of our favorite molded salad recipes. The top layer is a sparkling tomato aspic studded with shrimp and olives. The other layer combines cottage cheese and hard cooked eggs — as pretty, fancy and savory as you please.

SHRIMP AND CHEESE SALAD KING

1 1-2 C. tomato juice
3 T. chopped onions
1 T. brown sugar
1 t. salt
1 bay leaf
2 whole cloves
2 T. lemon juice
3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
2 T. water
1/4 lb. shrimp
1-4 C. sliced stuffed olives
2 C. milk
1 C. cottage cheese

Press Unit Urges Kennedy To Make Rights Speech

WASHINGTON, D. C. — make the U.S. Civil Rights Commission a permanent fact-finding body; presidential support for a nation-wide registration and vote drive; and the enactment of further-needed civil rights legislation in this session of Congress.

The club applauded the President for "his remarkable achievements during his first 100 days in office." It praised the establishment of the Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity and the quick action of the Attorney General in handling the riots surrounding the "Freedom Bus Riders" in Alabama; but it said to ask for a cessation of the trips now would be "turning back the hands of the freedom clock on which time is running out."

The press group, which is predominantly Negro, was founded in Washington 18 years ago. It holds an annual awards banquet. President Kennedy was asked to attend this year's event; but expressed his regrets at being unable to participate.

DENTAL ASSOCIATION MEETS

The Tennessee Dental Association convened in Nashville, Tenn., on June 6-9. This was one of the most outstanding meetings that has been held in recent years. Dr. W. R. Bell, of Jackson, Tenn., who has been very outstanding in civic affairs was elected president for the year 1961-62.

Mrs. W. R. Bell, the charming wife of Dr. Bell, who is president of the National Auxiliary was presented a Citizenship Proclamation and the key to the city by the Honorable Ben West, Mayor of the city of Nashville. Mrs. Bell is one of the few to receive this distinction and honor. In giving honor where honor is due, no finer person could have been selected.

BOY SCOUTS CAMP OPENS

Over 200 boys from the West Tennessee Area Council of the J. F. Lane Division will go to camp on June 25 and remain until July 2, at Camp F. F. Mitchell. The number going to camp this year will be the largest in the history of the division. Last minute preparations are being made by the units that will attend. The Council is furnishing a well-qualified staff to direct the activities at the camp.

The staff will be composed of the following persons: L. E. Thues, Camp director; Clarence Hunt, program director; Shelby Rose, Water Front director; John Parrish, Jr., assistant water front director; Harold Berry, nature; J. A. Cooke, First Aid and Safety; King Dunlap, Jr., cooking; John Barbee, axemanship; Wesley McClure, compass and mapping. Other staffers will be named prior to June 25 to fill all of the key positions—necessary for maintaining a well-rounded camp. The staff will offer all of the outdoors requirements from Tenderfoot to Eagle for scouts during the week.

HERES AND THERES

Prof. O. C. Cole has been a patient of the Jackson General Hospital and Mrs. A. M. Bonds, both are home and doing fine.

Mrs. F. A. Dobbins is retiring as supervisor of Madison County after years and years of yeomen service.

Mrs. Anna L. Cooke, writer of this weekly column and daughter, Elsie are still vacationing in the East. They are expected back in Jackson on or about July 1.

Jamaica Dominant In Commonwealth Set-Up

By LAURENCE MEREDITH LONDON — (UPI) — On May 31 next year Britain's West Indies federation will become an independent nation within the commonwealth, and take its place as the 23rd country in the Western Hemisphere.

Colonial Secretary Iain MacLeod is expected to announce details of the federation's new constitution in the House of Commons on Monday.

Final agreement on the form the constitution is to take during the initial years of independence was reached early Saturday at the close of a two-week-long conference composed of the chief ministers of the 10 island governments, the federal prime minister, and colonial secretary MacLeod and his advisers.

The conference from the start was a battle of wills between the three outstanding personalities attending the conference — Sir Grantley Adams, the federal prime minister who is widely respected for his integrity; Norman Manley, the doctrinaire, ascetic prime minister of Jamaica; and Dr. Eric Williams, fiery politician, scholar, and prime minister of Trinidad.

And joined to this clash of personalities were the conflicting regional interests of the 10 groups of islands.

Jamaica at the northern end of the federation is the largest island, with a population of 1,700,000 — over half that of the federation. Jamaica's budget at present pays over 40 per cent of the federal government's expenses.

Fifteen hundred miles to the south lies Trinidad, oil-rich and industrialized.

Between the two, stretching in a great protective arc across the Caribbean, lie the seven groups of islands composing the Leeward and Windward groups — St. Kitts and Nevis, Montserrat, Antigua, Dominica, St. Lucia, St. Vincent and Grenada. And outside the circle is the sugar-rich, lone island of Barbados.

Only Jamaica, Trinidad and Barbados are financially self-sufficient. The budget deficits of all the other islands are made up by direct gifts of money from the British exchequer, which in the past five years have totalled $8 million.

By 1946 the West Indies Islands realized that their parochial ways were leading only to perpetual colonial rule on British charity. So the idea of federation began to dominate West Indian thinking and gradually undermined 300 years of isolated island life.

By 1956 the 10 island groups had finally decided to federate and the West Indies federation came into being in 1956 as a self-governing British colony. The capital was set up at Port-of-Spain, Trinidad, with Barbados-born Sir Grantley Adams as the federal prime minister.

But the basic fears over territorial rights continued. Chief among these was Jamaica's obsession that federation would mean an increase in taxation which would undermine her government's policy of tax concessions to foreign industrial developers. Jamaicans believed they would have to carry the main financial burden of the new federation with few compensating advantages.

Both Trinidad and Jamaica feared they would be inundated by hordes of job-seeking immigrants from the poorer islands which their delicately balanced economies could not absorb.

A previous attempt to draw up a constitution which would withstand the cold winds of independence broke down dismally in 1959 in its early stages — before there was any question of coming to London with firm proposals.

This time a preliminary conference was held in January in Port-of-Spain, at which most of the criteria of nationhood were agreed upon.

When this last conference opened in London on May 31, the fundamental divergence of opinion remained between Adams, who insisted on a tight federation, and those led by Manley of Jamaica who demanded a loose federation with the territories retaining most of their power.

Jamaica argued that industrial development should remain a territorial power. Trinidad wanted it controlled by the federal government.

WANTS CONTROLS Jamaica also insisted on controlling income tax which under present Jamaican law was closely tied up with her industrial development policy.

Other unsettled thorny questions were the timing of a customs union for the federation and at what point in the future unrestricted immigration should be allowed between the islands.

Reports during the two-week conference indicated that Norman Manley of Jamaica gained most of his demands, since both Adams and Dr. Williams realized that if Manley made good his threats to pull Jamaica out of the federation they could not go it alone and the new Caribbean nation would be stillborn.

REAL ESTATE DIGEST

By Jesse L. Williams

Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits. Rom. 12:16.

Here is a synopsis of matters important to the use of the telephone for real estate purposes, as especially prepared by P. W. Bove, commercial training supervisor with the Bell Telephone System.

1. (A) For every face-to-face contact that a prospective buyer of real estate has with a real estate salesman, there are eight separate conversations on the telephone. That fact can indicate how important the telephone is in the real estate business.

(B) About 40 to 50 per cent of all sales made by real estate people originate with a telephone conversation.

2. Primary methods of using the telephone to promote the sale of real estate:

(A) To receive incoming inquiries resulting from newspaper ads, recommendations, and other sources.

(B) To call occupant for permission to show premises.

(C) To save time on follow-up calls.

(D) To solicit new listings.

(E) For administrative purposes.

IMPORTANCE OF VOICE:

(A) Speak naturally and in your normal voice.

(B) Speak clearly and distinctly. Above all, avoid talking too fast. Prospects do not like to feel that they are being rushed into a sale.

(C) Show personal interest. This means using the customer's name frequently during the conversation. In addition, the salesman must learn to listen to the words of his prospect. He must not try to monopolize the conversation.

(D) Agreeableness is essential in the voice.

4. Telephone courtesy:

(A) When answering, always identify yourself by giving the name of your firm, or office and then giving your personal name.

(B) Concentrate on your call. Don't carry on a conversation with someone else in your office at the same time.

If you have to leave the receiver off the hook, then make certain it is not lying on its side, thus permitting office conversation to be overheard.

(C) Keep a pad and pencil close at hand at all times.

(D) Have listing record conveniently available.

(E) When you finish talking, say "good-bye" pleasantly. This is important, too—replace the receiver gently and after the prospect has hung up first.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN:

Let him not, who is homeless, pull down the house of another man, but let him work diligently and build one for himself. Property is the fruit of labor. Property is desirable. It is a positive good in the world. That some should be rich shows that others may become rich, and hence is just encouragement to industry and enterprise. Let not him who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him labor diligently and build one for himself, thus by example showing that his own shall be safe from violence when built.

HUMBOLDT Tennessee

This is the time of year when Vacation Bible schools are in progress. Last week Lane Chapel CME church held its Vacation Bible school. There was large attendance each day. Your scribe served as director. Other workers were Mesdames Carolyn Garrett, Frances Givens, Betty Burnett, Dr. O. L. Cox, J. C. House and C. H. Williams.

The auxiliaries of the church served refreshments each day. A program was rendered Friday and certificates were awarded to all who attended. Rev. C. D. McKelvy is pastor of Lane Chapel.

The St. James Baptist church held its Vacation Bible school June 5-9. The week's work was very successful as well as very enjoyable. The theme was, "Living for Jesus." There was a large attendance each day. The total enrollment for the week was 214 which included 200 pupils, 10 teachers and four workers. Refreshments were donated daily by Mrs. V. P. Pulliam and served daily by Mesdames Katherine Davis and V. P. Pulliam.

The school closed Friday with an interesting program. Certificates were awarded by the director to pupils, teachers and workers. Messrs Brodie Davis, director; M. H. Croom, and W. F. Lacey, assistant directors; Misses Virginia Rodgers, secretary; Charlie Mae Rutherford, and Doris Croom, assistant secretaries; Mesdames Dorothy McKinney, pianist; Louise Cooper, assistant pianist; Rev. William Burrill, pastor.

The Tennessee Leadership Training school and pastor's institute is in progress at Lane college, Jackson, Tenn. Attending from Lane chapel CME church are Revs. C. D. McKelvy, pastor; Edward McKelvy, assistant pastor; Howard Gentry, Jr., Andrew Gale Bonds, Bobby Nesbit, Doris Ann Gentry, Essie Yarbrough, and Maxine McCurrie. Brenda Burnett is attending the Day Camp for children under 12. Will give a full report next week.

Funeral services were held for Rev. Melvin Greer at Lane Chapel CME church Wednesday,

LOS ANGELES — (UPI) — The American Institute of Fine Arts Sunday named former silent film star Mary Pickford the "First Lady of the World." Miss Pickford, one of the institute's founders, received the honor at a luncheon attended by 600 persons at the Ambassador hotel. She displayed many of her art possessions from Pickford and her 1929 Oscar.

day, June 14. Revs. C. D. McKelvy and M. H. Burnett officiated. He is survived by one son, W. P. Greer, Chicago, Ill., four nephews and four nieces. Funeral services were held for Mrs. Eva Shane, one of the oldest members of Lane Chapel CME church, at Lane Chapel Wednesday, June 15, with pastor, Rev. C. D. McKelvy officiating. She is survived by one niece, one sister and several cousins.

Sp/4 Thomas Miller and Sp/4 William Paul (Billy) Boykin of Fort Campbell spent a few days here with Billy's grandmother, Mrs. Lucy Collier, and his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Thomas and Debbie.

MUSING:
God tempers the wind with the sunshine
And the sunshine with the rain
And when the dark clouds hover
Then the rainbow appears again.

Dear Carlotta:

I love my husband very dearly. But I have always been under the influence of my mother and grandmother. Now, he brings most of his money home, but my mother and grandmother nag me all the time because he does not bring every penny. I want to be happy, but I want my mother, my grandmother, and husband to be happy. What can I do?

A.B.

Dear A. B.:

Your problem is not so much of a husband-wife relationship as family-in-law relationship. You may tell your mother and grandmother (tactfully) to leave your affairs alone. Now, with all due respect to well meaning parents and grandparents, probably the easiest way out of this is not to discuss your money problems with them.

If you did not tell them that he did not give you all the money, they would not know. They may be old fashioned and not know that men seldom hand their wives their envelope, then meekly ask for cigarette money.

So to keep from hurting their feelings, always have a smile when they are around. Have words of praise for whatever hubby is doing. In that way they will begin to take for granted that he is turning his pockets inside out.

You will be happy, hubby will be happy, and you will not have been false about the money.

HOW LONG SHALL WE COOL?

By WILLIAM HENRY HUFF

We have been cooling off a hundred years

And many times mid lynch-ing blood and tears.

Now how much longer shall we have to cool

Our precious blood has formed a crimson pool

On every battle field our country had

Now segragionist we're truly mad

We can't agree with you for you are wrong

You'd better learn and sing another song

You can't call back the brutal bloody past

Those days are crumbling now and crumbling fast

Why can't we sit and eat as others do?

We're citizens and natives just like you.

Golfing With 'Lil'

By

Mrs. Cornell Wolfe

Meet our golf doctor, Robert (Bubba) Jeter. He is so dedicated to the game, his friends say, that he can be riding down the street and see a child swinging a golf club wrong and jump out of his car to correct the child's play. Then he will be on his way, pleased.

Or he can be playing with you in a foursome and see you attempting to make a shot improperly. He will forget about his shot and come over and correct yours. This is the man all golfers go to when they find a weakness in their game. They get him to correct their hook, slice, fade or topping errors.

What ever the complaint, the "doctor" always cures the pupil. He also takes on new pupils. You will find him in his clinic Saturday from sun up to sun down. He guarantees his work.

The doctor started working in 1923 at the Memphis Country club doing repairs on golf clubs. He started playing in a caddy tournament. He won the tournaments five years straight and the officials decided his game was too good for the caddy outings. Each year afterward he and three of the best golfers working there would play an exhibition.

The doc has so many trophies that he stopped counting years ago.

His first student was George Trebel, one of the past presidents of the Memphis Country club. The same Julie Buzbaum who lost the playoff for the championship last month in the Memphis Open used to play golf with Bubba's clubs. He boasts of helping Elton Grandberry, our champ, when his game developed a kink.

Bubba lives at 2347 Douglas with his devoted wife, Mrs. Alice Jeter. We hope some of his golfing knowledge will rub off on some of our youngsters so that we can sit back one day and enjoy them on TV, as they play in the PGA. It could happen, you know, in the good ole USA.

"Idle time not idly spent"

Sir Henry Wotton

The month of June is well on the way and so are most fishermen to enjoying a season of happy care-free time on their favorite lake. That idle time and carefree time can be ruined by insects and that dreadful snake.

A name brand insect repellent can control and prevent such insect bites as mosquitoes, chiggers, gnats and ants. The American Red Cross First Aid Textbook states "poisonous snakes are found everywhere in the United States—abundant in some localities, extremely rare in others. They live where conditions favor their existence." The textbook under prevention gives this advice "take extra precautions in snake-infested country."

Watch where you step, where you place your hands, where you sit down. Wear heavy high shoes, boots or leggings in the field. For the care and treatment of snake bites consult the above named book. For an easy to carry handbook on first aid write to Reader's Digest-Printed Editor, Pleasantville, New York. Cost: 15¢.

Finding fish is a problem that most fishermen disagree on. Here are a few tips: First, you must learn their feeding habits and favorite food. Bass, bluegill, minnows, small Crappie, Pike and Muskellunge, sunfish and frogs. Luckily, they think some artificial lures are food, too. Blue Gill and other bream like crickets and red worms. They also will hit artificial lures. What about Catfish? Well, "old whisker-face" grubbs around plants and brush piles looking for crawfish, minnows, fish eggs.

Temperature of the water has a lot to do with the depth that certain fish usually stay in. When water temperature is suitable, the fish roam the shallows around weedbeds, logs, rock piles, submerged trees, and other vegetation or obstructions. Try drift-fishing. Get on the windward side of a weed bar. Let the wind ahead of the boat. This is a drift you across it, and cast good way to fish a cove also.

Catfish is a bottom feeder in both fresh and salt water.

Remember this: learn the spots where fish hide, the kind of food they eat, and when they feed. Then tempt them into biting.

Indict Pair In Cage Fixing

NEW YORK — (UPI) — The New York County Grand Jury Monday indicted a reputed Boston gambler as a "bankroller" of basketball bribes and a New Yorker as a game "fixer," and also named Fred Portnoy of Columbia as a player who "shaved points" in games.

The indictments were tied in with previous game-fixing disclosures and Portnoy—a sophomore during the past season—was the only new player to become involved.

Indicted were Philip La Cort of Boston, described by District Attorney Frank S. Hogan as a man who furnished $10,000 to finance the bribery of basketball players on five occasions, and Joseph Green, 36, of New York, who was said to have arranged game-fixing.

Portnoy, the DA said, was promised $1,000 per game to control the point spread of games played by Columbia university during the past year.

Portnoy thus became the 27th player to be involved in the current basketball scandal to some extent.

Letters To The Editor

Honorable Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy
Department of Justice
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:
"We take this privilege to congratulate you upon your forthright stand in the 'Freedom March' controversy in Alabama."

"It is indeed gratifying to know that our Federal Government is willing to take a stand for right in these perilous times, when it seems that most people are not quite sure what is right and what is wrong."

"It is also good to know that the Constitutional Rights of all men will now be protected by the Federal Government in actions of mob violence."

"Mr. Attorney we believe that we are expressing the sentiments of people everywhere and particularly here in Tennessee when we urge you 'continue to support and defend the rights of the Freedom Riders.' We cannot wholeheartedly agree that the Freedom Riders should postpone their activities until things 'cool off.'"

"Negroes now feel that the States and Federal government owe them the same respect and protection of the law that others are attributed. Until this is done there shouldn't be any let-up or 'cooling-off.' We did not cool off in Germany and the Pacific until freedom was won. Why should we postpone any action for first class citizenship in Alabama and Mississippi now before we are sure that we have our equal rights?"

"Instead of an appeal to the Freedom Riders to 'cool off' it might have been a directive to those states concerned to protect the rights of the Freedom Riders."

"We agree that this type of mob violence on the part of Southern Whites might have embarrassed the President during his overseas tour, but it is better that presidents be embarrassed now than later, if it means no more than sacrificing pride for the elimination of racial segregation and bigotry in America."

"Furthermore, the President implied that he would eliminate racial segregation with a 'stroke of the pen' when and if he were elected president."

"Now Mr. Attorney General the Negro did not establish segregation based on race in this country nor was he the cause of mob violence in Alabama. It might well be said that the same bigotry bred by segregation in the white race was the direct cause of those blinding acts of violence."

"Governor Patterson and his official family further inflamed this undemocratic mob action by adding fuel to the flames."

"Mr. Attorney General we hope you will pass this bit of information on to the President of the United States and all others concerned."

Signed:
Yours truly,
Memphis & Shelby County Tennessee Voters Association, Inc.
Eliehu Stankovic, Pres.
O. Z. Evers, chairman of the board
Mrs. Evergreen Caldwell, secretary.

TAKING A STAND—Members of the NAACP's Kansas City, Mo., youth council were arrested recently for demonstrating against Jim Crow practices of Fair-land Amusement Park, largest in the city. Negroes are allowed its facilities once weekly. Local Board of Education sponsored school outing there. NAACP youth protested but the Board continued its plans. Youth then picketed Board of Education.

NAACP Youth Council President Gloria Newton said demonstrations will go on.

Afro-Asian Diplomats Try To Lure Free European Nations To Summit

By DAVID BISHAI
United Press International

CAIRO — (UPI) — Afro-Asian diplomats here believe positive neutrality will have scored a major gain if non-aligned European countries join the proposed summit conference of uncommitted nations.

The conference was initiated by President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic and President Tito of Yugoslavia. They were joined later by India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and Indonesian President Sukarno.

A preparatory committee assembled in Cairo last week to decide the time, place and agenda for the conference. Participants included eight Asian, nine African and three Latin American countries in addition to the four initiators.

The preparatory committee also discussed whether to invite non-aligned European countries, such as Sweden, Finland, Ireland and Austria. Invitations to Bolivia and Ecuador in South America also were considered.

"These nations are not aligned to any bloc," one Asian diplomat said. "Their votes in the UN are consistent with a neutralist policy. There is no reason why they should not take a more active role in working for a lasting world peace."

"With these countries joining in, positive neutrality would have eliminated a strictly general belief that it is strictly an Afro-Asian affair. This move would take up a world wide scope."

The diplomat said about 30 countries would attend the conference, if the Europeans agree to come. So far, those expected to attend are: from Asia—India, Indonesia, Burma, Ceylon, Iraq, Cambodia, Afghanistan, Nepal and Saudi Arabia; from Africa—Ethiopia, Somalia, Guinea, Mali, Ghana, Sudan, Algeria (nationalist government in exile), Morocco and the Congo (Stanleyville); and from Latin America — Brazil, Mexico and Cuba.

Venezuela declined to attend the preparatory committee meeting. But diplomatic sources said this did not rule out Venezuela's participation in the conference itself.

Agenda for the conference includes:

1. The world situation and how to ease international tension.
2. Disarmament and banning nuclear testing.
3. Total decolonization of countries still under foreign occupation.
4. Cooperation among the non-aligned countries in all fields.

One African diplomat said, "there will be more than 800 million people represented in this conference. Neither the U.S. nor the Soviet Union can afford to ignore it."

The conference also aims at luring small committed nations into becoming uncommitted.

Nasser and Guinean President Sekou Toure said it openly in their communique following Toure's visit to the UAR last month.

"... Contacts and consultations among the non-aligned nations are indispensable for the reinforcement of universal peace and for the expansion of non-aligned countries so as to embrace the largest possible number of the countries of the world."

The African diplomat elaborated:

"Let us take for example,

Iran. There is a country characterized by all what plagues underdeveloped nations. It needs hard work and a lot of money to raise the standard of its people and to achieve national welfare. But Iran is committed to spend most of its income on maintaining a large army and is committed by a defense pact with the U.S. to repel any possible attack from Russia."

"But suppose Russia attacks Iran. The U.S. then would intervene to defend its ally and we would have a world war."

"And in a world war, everybody is going to get it—aligned or non-aligned. That is what we are trying to prevent."

He said the non-aligned nations form the "Buffer Zone" between the eastern and western blocs.

But Afro Asian diplomats admit it would be "quite difficult" to lure many countries to drop their alliances for the sake of non-alignment.

Funeral Held For Thornton Reed

Funeral service for Thornton Reed of 7081 Winchester Rd., Germantown, Tenn., was conducted at Macedonia Church of Christ in Capleville, 1 a.m. Thursday morning. Interment followed in New Bethel Cemetery in Germantown under direction of Southern Funeral Home. Delivering the eulogy was Elder Paul Seattle of Houston, Texas. Officiating was Elder E. Lane. Others participating were Elders Robert Bonds, M.A. Hull.

Mr. Reed, the last of a pioneer family in Germantown, died at his home June 11 at the age of 81. He had been in failing health since 1952, the same year he campaigned locally for the election of Dwight D. Eisenhower as president of the U.S. In 1956 he suffered his first attack, caused by "hardening of arteries." He suffered about five attacks, which left him paralyzed just before his death.

Active many years in civic, political and religious activities, he admired George W. Lee as a "brave and strong Republican."

Respected by both white and Negro citizens in Germantown, he counted among his friends, Homer K. Jones, a public accountant in Memphis, Dr. J. E. Clark of Forrest Hill and the late Sheriff Lon Collis of Germantown.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Eli Reed, he became a skilled dog trainer, dairyman and arduous farmer, despite the fact that he was unable to attain more than four years in school. He was first married to the late Mrs. Ellen Roberts Reed in 1906. To them were born five children. In 1926 he married the former Miss Mary Gentry. To them were born nine children. Also they were the parents of a foster son, as well as a stepdaughter.

Mr. Reed became a member of the Church of Christ in 1914. He became an elder in his church, and helped to organize the following churches: Monsarratt and Silverage Avenue; Lauderdale and Iowa and a church in Germantown.

Among survivors are his wife, Mrs. Mary Reed, five daughters, Mrs. Melvina Moses of Union City, Tenn.; Mrs. Norma J. Ingram of New Port News, Va.; Mrs. Mile Johnkan, Mrs. Lavorn Hooker and Mrs. Shirley Wade, all of Memphis; two stepdaughters, Mrs. Flora M. Boyd and Mrs. Mildred Cole of Memphis; three sons, James Reed of Germantown, Edwin Reed and Arthur Reed of Chicago, and a foster son, Hugh V. Roberts, sr.; nine grandchildren, six great-grandchildren.

Christianity Greatest African Gift, Prelate Says

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The first Negro cardinal of the Roman Catholic church said Monday Christianity is "the most precious thing that Africa has received from the west."

Laurian Cardinal Rugambwa of Tanganyika told a National Press Club luncheon that the spread of Christian influence in Central Africa during the past half-century "has been fantastic."

As late as 1907, he said, there were only 750,000 Catholics in Africa, "and today the 20 million mark has been passed."

"The overall influence of Christianity in Africa is far greater than bare statistics might indicate," he said. "Although Africa is only 11 percent Christian, the spirit of Christianity has exerted a large influence on the development of the continent. The fact that the majority of the educated class have received a good Christian education has been one of the principal causes for this influence."

He said education has been one of the "greatest contributions" which Christians have made to Africa. "In the not too distant past, the only schools in tropical Africa were those built and run by missionaries."

Also, he said, Christianity has "liberated Africa from centuries-old servitude of superstitious fear and practice," has "communicated to Africa a knowledge of and respect for the basic human rights of the individual" and has given to Africa a concern for the whole man, not merely his spiritual and moral welfare, but his physical, economic and social welfare as well.

Although Africa is deeply indebted to "generations of self-sacrificing missionaries" from the west, he said, it is a wholesome sign that "the church is beginning to take root in native structures."

His own elevation to the College of Cardinals last year was a recognition by the Vatican of the growing role of the 2,500 native Catholic priests now serving in Africa.

Cardinal Rugambwa has been in the U.S. for nearly a month, visiting Catholic universities in various parts of the country. He will return to Tanganyika late this week.

Try and Stop Me

THIS COLUMN'S sympathy goes out to the father of nine children, who sued his wife for divorce the other day. He told the judge he didn't get too angry when he had to live in the barn with the cows for two weeks while his mother-in-law dropped in for a visit, but he did reach the limit of endurance when the birth of two calves crowded him out of the barn and compelled him to sleep with the chickens in the henhouse.

The 9:18 was creaking out of the station when an anguished lady scooted the baggage master and said, "If I run do you think I can still catch the train?" "Lady," the baggage master assured her, "If you run hard enough—you'll pass it!"

Tenn. Traffic Report Cops Safety Citation

The Daily Traffic Safety Report, featuring an up-to-the-minute report each day by a top official of the Tennessee Department of Safety, has been singled out for one of the nation's highest safety honors.

The Alfred P. Sloan Award was presented to the Tennessee District of the Portland Cement Association for sponsoring the best traffic program of its kind, based on entries submitted in a nation-wide contest by the National Safety Council.

Governor Buford Ellington, commenting on the award today, congratulated the association and Radio Station WLAC in Nashville, which carries the program each Monday through Friday.

"It is indeed a fine recognition for a most worthy public service performed by two fine Tennessee institutions," the Governor declared. "He also expressed congratulations to Major Henry Heer, assistant to the Commissioner of Safety, and Charles Scott, the station's news director, 'for the excellent manner in which they have handled these important programs.'"

"Commissioner of Safety Greg O'Rear is doing a magnificent job in reducing the traffic death rate in our state," the Governor said, "and I am sure he, too, appreciates the able assistance given him by those responsible for the program."

John L. Feagin, Tennessee District Engineer for Portland Cement Association, received the award in ceremonies at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York.

African Refugees' Plight Launches Broad UN Probe

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — (UPI) — A nine-nation committee leaves Tuesday for Africa to interview seven refugees from South West Africa on conditions there. Their 12,000-mile inspection tour is scheduled to take them to almost every area of the continent except the one they are investigating.

The Union of South Africa, which administers the former German colony under a league of nations mandate, contends that conditions in South West Africa are no concern of the United Nations and has refused to cooperate with the 13-man investigating group.

So the committee has scheduled a peripheral itinerary which averages roughly 1,000 miles per man to interview the refugees, whose number is about half that of the committee members and their aides. The committee hopes to find more refugees.

The investigators also have been rebuffed on a bid to study South West Africa from the border of neighboring Angola, another seething African territory shrouded in censorship.

Portugal views Angola as an integral part of the Portuguese nation. It told the UN that there are no South West African refugees in Angola and therefore no reason for the committee to come in.

The committee, composed of members from Indonesia, Ireland, the Philippines, Uruguay, United Arab Republic, Brazil, Guatemala, Denmark and Ethiopia, plans to start work in Accra, Ghana. The Ghanaian government has promised to provide information about reported unrest in South West Africa.

It may also visit the British territory of Bechuanaland, on South West Africa's eastern border, through which refugees escaped to petition the UN for help. The petitioners complained bitterly that South African rule was oppressive, denied fundamental human rights to the natives, extended South Africa's controversial Apartheid policies into the territory and aimed at annexation.
